

Clues Checked In Bombing Of Sam Perrone

DETROIT (AP) — A worn pair of gloves and a passerby's report of seeing a car near Santo (Sam) Perrone's sedan before it was blasted by a bomb served as possible clues today to the apparent assassination attempt.

Perrone, 69, named by police as a Mafia agent, remained in critical condition at Saratoga General Hospital from injuries suffered in the explosion Sunday in his parked car. He lost his right leg and was otherwise badly wounded.

Retaliation Indicated

Perrone, under 24-hour police guard, was said to have given officers a minimum of help in their efforts to get evidence. He vowed, however, to "take care" of the person responsible for planting the bomb in his car.

The gloves, fur-lined, were found at the scene. A motorist, whom police refused to identify, said he saw a "dark sedan" near Perrone's parked car shortly before the explosion.

Chief of Detectives Thomas R. Cochil said the bombing was an enemy's retaliation against Perrone.

Cochil also said he felt Perrone knew the reason for the attempt on his life though refusing to give information to police.

"When he says he doesn't know who did it, he may have difficulty deciding who among a group might have done it," Cochil said.

Gang War Starting?

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said at Lansing a grand jury inquiry might be called.

Kelley, assigning an aide to work with the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office in Detroit's investigation, said the bombing could be an overture to a gang war.

Kelley also said he would push an expansive anti-crime program. He said he would call for an immediate meeting of federal, state and local law enforcement agencies to set up a "task force" to fight organized crime. He said he would propose legislation giving joint subpoena powers to himself and the governor for crime investigation purposes. In recent years proposals for such power for the attorney general have been rejected by the legislature.

The broadcast, monitored here, did not say what financial arrangements were made or how the bulls would be shipped.

Arms Discussion Reopens With Hopes For Thaw

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The second International Arms Control and Disarmament Symposium will open tonight at the University of Michigan with a keynote address by Archibald Alexander, assistant director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Alexander, whose subjects will be "Future Prospects for Arms Control and Disarmament," replaces Clare H. Timberlake as keynote speaker.

Timberlake, chairman of the disarmament staff of the U.S. agency, was called at Geneva, Switzerland, last week to participate in international disarmament talks.

An article in the Soviet labor newspaper Trud indicated the Russians would renew their proposals for a nonaggression pact between the Soviet bloc and the North Atlantic Alliance, establishment of nuclear-free zones over the world, prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons and reductions in military budgets and military bases on foreign soil.

American disarmament negotiator William C. Foster was publicly optimistic over prospects for the talks—the Johnson administration's first major encounter with the Russians at an international conference.

Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, believes three achievements last year helped to produce a climate in which progress should be possible.

These are the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, the Washington-Moscow "hot line" and the U.N. General Assembly resolution banning mass destruction weapons from space vehicles.

A high American source said these agreements—on subjects which were debated by the Geneva conference—had brought "a change in the relationship between the two sides which is propitious of further progress."

But several delegates said the conference suffered its first setback even before it resumed formal sessions when Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, at a private meeting with Foster Monday, dashed all hopes of quick progress on a total nuclear test ban.

The Moscow treaty outlawed only tests above ground and under water, those that can be detected without an international control system.

Budget Of 97.9 Billion Aimed At Deficit Slash

Pearson Will Discuss Rift With deGaulle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by De Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

Pearson spent last week in Paris. He conferred with the French leader and is known to be deeply concerned about the rift between the two of the major nations in the Atlantic Alliance.

Diplomats said that his desire to do everything possible to reduce the differences and to stress possibilities of accord rather than disagreement would be reflected in his discussions with the President here.

The Canadian leader, who was once his country's ambassador in Washington, is due here in midafternoon.

The first opportunity the men will have for policy talks will come tonight at a dinner for the President and First Lady at the Canadian Embassy. Wednesday the two leaders have scheduled a morning conference at the White House to be followed by a luncheon and a brief afternoon meeting ending with the issuance of a communique.

The major scheduled event of the Pearson visit will be an exchange of notes in the presence of the President and prime minister by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin on the Columbia River project.

The White House said the notes will provide for carrying out a treaty signed in 1961 for extensive power development and flood control projects on the Columbia River which will eventually make greatly expanded sources of electric power throughout the Northwest.

Two Boys Enroll With 948 Girls

DETROIT (AP) — Take two young fellows, enroll them with 948 girls in what previously had been an all-girl school, and what more could any men want?

Well, said Jeroslave (Jerry) Sup and Robert Woods Monday, things would be just perfect at Mercy College "if we had a baseball diamond, a football field and a few more guys."

Sup and Woods enrolled at Mercy last September, the first male students in the college's program to create a co-educational student body.

Wind, Rain Whip San Francisco

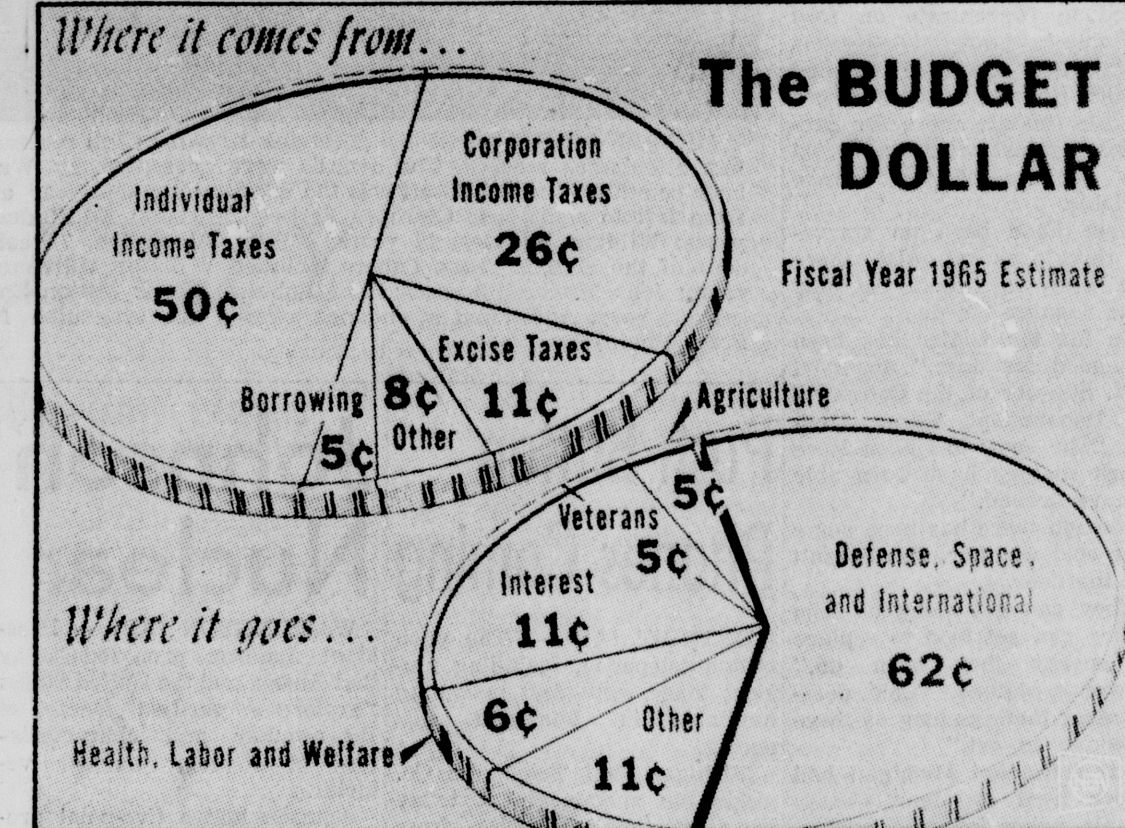

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavy snow and rain driven by gale winds continued to buffet Northern California and much of Nevada after chasing people from their homes, snarling traffic and causing injuries Monday.

The forecast today even mentioned the rare "possibility of snow in hills" around the San Francisco Bay area tonight as temperatures were expected to skid in a wide area.

In Orick, 45 miles north of Eureka, Calif., most of the town's 700 residents were back in their homes after being routed when Redwood Creek overflowed. Water was reported five feet deep in the logging community Monday.

In the southern part of Humboldt County, the Eel River broke its banks and flowed into farmland. Wind-felled trees, rain and snow temporarily blocked roads throughout Northern California and Nevada.

Winds were so strong Monday at the Golden Gate Bridge that motorists were asked to slow down and keep to the right-hand

NEWSCHART SHOWS where the tax dollar comes from and how it is spent.

Johnson Asks Expense Cut To Attack Poverty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turnaround to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a "giant step toward... a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department. He proposed a $54-billion national defense effort, which includes along with actual military expenditures such costs as civil defense, stockpiling and atomic weapons procurement.

Fewer Jobholders

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the overall ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the federal year starting July 1.

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people." He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Peace Safeguarded

Johnson told the legislators he was guided, in this first major economic task of his presidency, by the principle that "an austere budget need not be and should not be a standstill budget," and explained:

"When vigorous pruning of old programs and procedures releases the funds to meet new challenges and opportunities, economy becomes the companion of progress..."

"A government that is strong, a government that is solvent, a government that is compassionate is the kind of government that endures."

He pledged that, despite military and nuclear cutbacks in spending—

"This budget safeguards the peace by providing for the further strengthening of the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

Income Climbs

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning — an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11-billion tax reduction bill.

Johnson proposed to cut 800 employees from the foreign aid program, a move certain to please the many aid critics in Congress, and to trim another 1,400 from the Agriculture Department, whose budget would be sliced by $1.3 billion to a total of $5.1 billion.

For new foreign aid funds Johnson asked $3.4 billion—the lowest request since the Marshall Plan got under way in 1948 and a whopping $1.5 billion below what President John F. Kennedy sought a year ago.

Moon Trip Included

But much of the savings in money and manpower would be diverted into welfare, labor, education, job retraining, youth assistance, and other arms of the antipoverty offensive.

Ruby Called Mental Case; Weeps In Court

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby cried today about the assassination of President Kennedy and said he was "more remorseful than angry" when he killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby broke into tears when newsmen asked him how he felt about the assassination. The questioning was permitted at the defense table just before Ruby's bond hearing was resumed.

Described Monday by defense witnesses as a man unaware of his actions when he shot Oswald, Ruby is charged with murder with malice. His lawyers are seeking his release on bond on grounds that he was temporarily insane and therefore could not tell right from wrong.

"I can't understand how a great man like that could be lost," Ruby cried as newsmen asked him his feelings about the President's death. He bit hard on his lower lip.

At that point, defense attorneys Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill asked that the questioning be dropped.

As to Oswald, Ruby said: "I never saw him or knew him in my life."

Bar Bell Kills Whitehall Baby

WHITEHALL (AP) — Mary Jo Tickle, 3½, was killed Monday when she was struck in the head by a bar bell which rolled off a closet shelf at her home. The girl was the daughter of Sgt. Joseph Tickle of the Whitehall State Police post.

Mutiny Calmed In Tanganyika

LONDON (AP) — Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders today but the situation in the new African nation appeared to be calming following an army mutiny.

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam, the Tanganyikan capital, said a government information officer had announced that President Julius Nyerere was safe and would broadcast to the nation today.

Nyerere was reported at his official residence in Dar es Salaam.

Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military cordon and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 140 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned, and the victims were all believed to be African or Asian. Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe. They include 165 U.S. government employees working in the embassy, the U.S. Information Service and the Peace Corps.

The mutiny, coming only a week after the leftist coup on the nearby island of Zanzibar, brought quick British action to protect the 5,000 British citizens in Tanganyika.

House Bill Aids Lakes Fishing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house passed a bill Monday designed to give an economic boost to Great Lakes fishing firms.

It would permit loans by the Small Business Administration to firms which were hard hit by a public concern over eating smoked whitefish from the area.

The bill goes back to the senate, which recently passed a similar measure, to eliminate differences in the two bills.

The Great Lakes fishing industry was harmed by several deaths of persons who had eaten smoked whitefish from the area. Botulism was blamed.

Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., said the house action was a major step toward relieving the economic burdens of the Great Lakes fisherman.

Rep. Neil Staeble, D-Mich., said it would bring relief for the Great Lakes fishing industry by providing long, low-interest loans.

Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., a member of the House Banking Committee which earlier approved the bill, said previously that he did not believe there would be any major opposition to it in the conference to work out differences.

Budget $13,800 For Isle Royale

WASHINGTON (AP)—Appropriations for the National Park Service totaling $111,030,000 for the year beginning July 1 were requested today by President Johnson. The requested appropriations include $13,800 for Isle Royale National Park in Lake Superior.

Americans Flown Out Of Panama

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

The Air Force said other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

Michigan Deer Not Yarding Up

By BOB VOGES
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's deer herd has won the first important winter battle for survival. Although it already is past mid-January, deer are not yet confined to yards in either peninsula.

Snow depth reports in the Upper Peninsula range up to more than two feet. Some crusting is reported, but the snow mostly is light enough so deer can get about without difficulty.

The deer still are ranging out of yards for food in all areas of the Upper Peninsula, Conservation Department game men report.

Similar depths of up to two feet are reported in the snow belt region of the northern Lower Peninsula, particularly in the Kalkaska area. Depths in other sections of the northern Lower Peninsula range upward from as little as six inches.

The deer are reported only loosely yarded in the Gaylord and Traverse City districts. The herd still is ranging widely in other parts of the area.

The whitetails have been able to take advantage of cuttings by the Conservation Department and commercial loggers to supplement natural browse.

They also have not yet been forced to concentrate on food available in the restricted areas of the yards—generally located in thick fir-spruce stands where the deer huddle more for protection against wind and cold than because of the browse available.

There have been no starvation reports as yet. Also, there have been no reports of dog packs running the deer.

"So far the winter has been very good for deer," observed F. W. Stuewer of the Conservation Department Game Division. "The snow has been loose enough so they have been able to move around."

Although there has been some bitter cold weather, this doesn't hurt the deer.

"They can get along as long as they can get food to replace the energy they burn up," Stuewer explained. "Cold doesn't bother them as long as there is enough to eat."

It is estimated Michigan had a deer herd of about 650,000 animals going into the winter. The count this spring will have a lot to do with the hunting regulations in the fall.

Push-Button Phones Coming

DETROIT (AP) — The push button telephone, including musical tones, will start becoming available in Michigan this spring.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. made the announcement today in requesting authority from the State Public Service Commission at Lansing to introduce the service.

On the new phone, you push numbered buttons to make your call. A "melodious" tone comes out as each button is pushed, Michigan Bell said.

The company said this is the greatest advance in telephone use since dialing began in 1921.

Beginning in April and extending through the year, the new service will be made available to specified customers in Southfield, Detroit, Ionia, Dearborn, Traverse City, Monroe, Midland, West Bloomfield, Ann Arbor, Howell, Lansing, Centerline, Flint, Birmingham and Farmington.

Johnson Favors Nuclear Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that Russia and the United States "explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics" of strategic nuclear vehicles.

Johnson laid a five-point program of possible agreement before the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference as it resumed sessions after a break of several months.

In a message to the conference he said that by laying the

Rep. Griffin 3 Hours Late

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Republican Congressman Robert P. Griffin of Traverse City arrived more than three hours late for his testimonial dinner Monday night while 1,000 persons waited.

Griffin, often mentioned as a possible GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Philip Hart, missed congratulatory telegrams from former President Dwight Eisenhower and other national GOP leaders.

At the dinner, Griffin did not indicate his political plans.

Gov. George Romney said at a pre-dinner press conference he won't ask Griffin to enter a U. S. Senate race because "that's something he will have to make up his own mind about."

The congressman was delayed with keynote speaker Sen. Thurston Morton, R-Ky., and U. S. Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., the only Democrat invited to the fete. The group's light plane was forced to land at Pittsburgh, Pa., when ice formed on the wings. They arrived at the dinner at 9:45 p. m.

About 810 persons attended the $3.50-a-plate dinner, with another 200 listening to the speeches.

In a long, emotional speech of thanks, Griffin said he would endorse state Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, "for any job, including lieutenant governor."

Congratulatory telegrams from Eisenhower, former vice-president Richard M. Nixon, and GOP presidential candidates Barry Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller and William Scranton were followed by laudatory speeches from state Republican notables.

The United States exported $5.1 billion in farm products in 1962.

Vestry Elected At St. Stephen's

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church held its annual parish meeting at the Sherman Hotel. Four new vestry members were elected to serve three year terms: August J. Brazeau, Edward Hurley, Mrs. Vernon Ihlenfeldt and E. L. Pohl. The 1964 budget of $23,351.83 was accepted by the congregation. Twenty-five per cent of this budget is for work outside the parish.

Following the business meeting an elections, Mrs. Helen Hoyer showed films she had taken of the many parish activities, organizations and groups other than the church who use the St. Stephen's Guild Hall.

At the vestry's organizing meeting held after services Sunday, the following officers were elected for 1964: Senior Warden, Dr. Charles Cole; Junior Warden, James Kent; secretary, Mrs. Charles Byrns and treasurer, Lowell Burkland.

MARQUETTE — Forty-one inmates of the Marquette State Prison received paroles during hearings conducted at the prison by the Michigan Parole Board.

In all, the Board disposed of 86 cases. Applications of 30 inmates for paroles were passed, or rejected, for various reasons, so that the inmates would be required to serve more time in prison. The prison's count has climbed to 898. It has been going up slowly, but steadily, since dropping to its low of 810 a few months ago, he said.

Largest Moonlet To Fly Thursday

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U. S. space agency officials say this country and Russia have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon, to be called Echo 2, for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

The United States and Russia agreed last August to use Echo 2 as an experiment in communications via satellite, bouncing radio signals off its reflective surface and picking them up at ground stations. A spokesman said this would be the first time for the two powers to talk via satellite. No date for the transmissions has been set.

The signals, on a frequency of 162 megacycles, may carry voices, audible tones, telegraphic code or facsimile pictures.

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

During the course of its expected lifetime, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of Russia, a space agency spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Russian territory under surveillance.

The shiny plastic-and-aluminum-foil sphere, the spokesman said, "is expected to be seen by more persons than any other man-made object in the history of the world."

Previous largest satellite was the 100-foot diameter Echo 1 launched in 1960 and still in orbit.

Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

If the skies are clear, it will be seen as a pinpoint of light moving from south to north. The satellite has no internal illumination but can be seen when struck by rays from the sun below the horizon.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a. m. and 6:14 a. m. (8:11 a. m. and 9:14 a. m. Eastern Standard Time).

Arms Control Meeting Opens

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Second International Arms Control and Disarmament Symposium will open tonight at the University of Michigan with a keynote address by Clare H. Timberlake, chairman of the disarmament staff of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Timberlake's subject will be "Future Prospects for Arms Control and Disarmament."

The symposium, running through Friday, is expected to attract 500 world leaders from the fields of industry, government, education, science and diplomacy. The first, in 1962, drew 370.

"Political and Economic Realities of Disarmament" will be discussed tomorrow night by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Yuli M. Verontsov, counselor and advisor on political affairs to the Soviet Union's mission to the United Nations, will speak on "The Soviet Interest in Arms Control and Disarmament" at a 1 p. m. Thursday session.

Thursday night M. A. Vellodi, director of the department of political and security council affairs of the United Nations Secretariat, will speak on "Arms control and disarmament, and the United Nations."

Howard Simons, science writer for the Washington Post, will moderate a general panel session Friday afternoon on "Communicating With the Public on Arms Control and Disarmament."

Payment Lag At Hospital Will Affect Credit

One of the judgments on a community is the quality of its hospital services. And one of the hospital's judgments on community is how it pays its bills.

Today St. Francis Hospital of Escanaba has accounts receivable totaling over $446,000. Total income of the hospital in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963 was over $1,218,000.

This means that over 120 days of care are on the hospital's books instead of in its till and available to pay bills.

Last week the hospital payroll was $20,000, and accounts payable about $35,000, for a total of $55,000 of bills to pay and the hospital had only $30,800 in the bank. It had to make a loan to meet its payroll the last two pay periods.

"It seems to me, as associate hospital administrator," said John Haines "that we have an obligation to the persons who pay their bills to get in as much money as possible to keep the bills down. In other words, who pays for those who don't pay? We are not talking here of charity cases that cannot pay.

"Because of non-collection of so much of our normal income, the administration of the hospital has found it necessary to consider some stringent credit policies. On a number of past accounts, where people have not even come in to talk to us about their bills, we will resort to legal action.

"In the past three years only credit letters have been used in efforts at collection."

The Michigan Hospital Association business index of September, 1963 for 77 Michigan hospitals reported an average total expense per patient day of $42.43. St. Francis Hospital averaged a cost of $30.72 per patient day for fiscal 1963. This was probably a rough average for U. P. hospitals of the size of St. Francis.

"The hospital shouldn't have over $200,000 or $250,000 of accounts receivable," said Haines, "and it has $446,000. It shouldn't have over 60 days of account receivable on its income calendar and it has 120 days."

"The unpaid bills represent delays in payments, and non payment of the difference between hospital insurance benefits and the patient's share of the bill. One of the big contributors to accounts receivable are accident cases. People in them sometimes feel that they have no responsibility for the bills for their care. Let the insurance companies fight it out," they say. By the time we've had 5 years of that we've got some unpaid bills that are dillies."

Haines told the Escanaba Kiwanis club of the hospital's fiscal problems in a talk at the club's Monday luncheon in the House of Ludington. He told of progress in equipment at the hospital, including current installation of a new portable x-ray machine which cost more than $5,000.

The 170 bed hospital has a load of 150 patients. It is crowded in medical and surgical rooms and has empty beds in its obstetrics and pediatrics departments.

Haines was introduced by Walter Lewke, program chairman.

Hiawatha Forest Puts More Work On Recreation

The great Hiawatha National Forest took on a new character in 1963 with more attention on the recreational resources than ever before and with production of wood for industry also increasing.

It was the first full year the forest was under the management of Sherwood C. Trotter of Escanaba, and it's annual review shows a cut of 40.5 million board feet and sale of 46.8 million board feet with a value of $317,521.

Plantings covered 3,888 acres with 4,128,000 trees and 1,497 acres were thinned and pruned and another 461 acres seeded. Most of the time spent on timber management was in development and administration of timber sales. Plantings were mostly with Accelerated Public Works funds and these make-work monies were also used to finance timber stand improvement and development of seed orchards.

Stumpage receipts by the counties from forest wood sales were: Alger $8,466; Chippewa $15,835; Delta, $17,775; Mackinac $10,734; Marquette $437 and Schoolcraft, $9,099, total $62,349.

Hunting and fishing account for a large proportion of the recreation visits to the forest. The forest is within a day's drive of Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago and every year its staff must spend more time on maintenance of its recreation areas because of increasing usage.

In 1963 several campgrounds were constructed or expanded. On the Munising District work was done on Pete's Lake and AuTrain Lake campgrounds and in the Rapid River District a hiking trail was developed at the Haymeadow campground, to mention a few.

In 1963 a watershed management specialist was added to the forest staff. Most of the forest's watershed problems lie along its streams. A stream bank stabilization project was undertaken along the Sturgeon River on the Rapid River District and similar projects are planned on the Lower Brevoort and Carp rivers on the St. Ignace District, the Indian River on the Manistiquette District, and the Pine River on the Sault Ste. Marie District.

In wildlife management deer food plots were established on the Sault Ste. Marie District and a browse production area set aside by the Munising District. The Manistiquette District has developed an area for sharp-tail grouse and the St. Ignace District has seeded miles of access ways with wildlife foods.

Work was started on three impoundments to provide nesting grounds for waterfowl. And cutting practices provided the forest edge effect so helpful to game.

The forest's fire loss potential grows yearly as the stand matures and prevention of man-caused fires is a top priority task shared by the Forest Service and forest users.

Controlled burns were made on the forest to see the action of fire and numerous fire access lanes were constructed with use of APW funds. The forest staff can now communicate with fire dispatching centers anywhere on the western half of the forest with its radio system.

LIFE SHORTENED 5.9 MINS. BY EACH CIGARETTE SMOKED

NEW YORK: Dr. Morton L. Levin of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute states "that on average the life span of the steady smoker is shortened 5.9 minutes each time he smokes a cigarette."

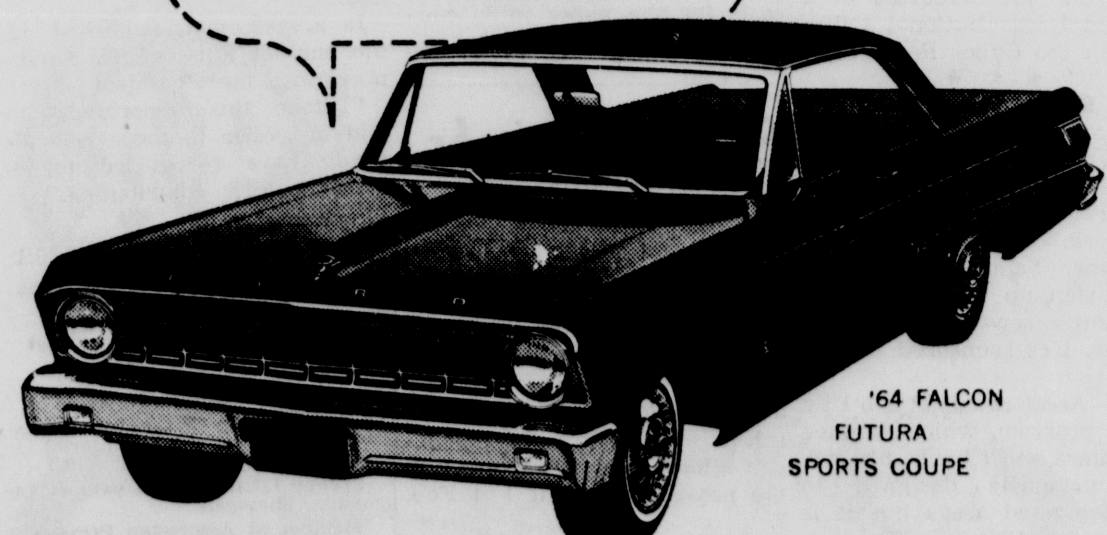

Current survey indicated that 10,080,000 or 15% of the United States smoking population would give up smoking immediately if they had sufficient will power.

National Council on Smoking and Health report (just published) describes their new, medically approved "method & tablets" which enable smokers to stop smoking safely and easily without relying on will power within 10 days.

Community Supports

The United Auto Workers Union at Marble Division of ITT-Bell & Gossett, Inc., has created a committee to work for the retention of Marble Arms operations in Gladstone. The business has been offered for sale by IT&T, which bought its parent company, Bell & Gossett in 1963.

The Arms Division of the Marble operation doesn't fit into IT&T's program and so it's being disposed of, while the Marble Electric operations at Gladstone are being continued.

Pending sale of the Marble Arms plant, IT&T has curtailed operations, causing the unemployment of 30 persons. The shock of this curtailment and, even worse, the order for sale, is shared here in Gladstone's sister city of Escanaba.

The Union is right in suggesting that there should be more than regrets; there should be action to continue the operation. The immediate form of action suggested by the UAW is that a committee be set up to obtain pledge support for local purchase of the business in event IT&T proposes to sell it to a buyer who would liquidate it or move it elsewhere.

The Union states: "It is a proven fact that the ability and skill to manufacture these items is located here, as for more than 50 years they have been sold on a national competitive basis and have not had to take a back seat as far as quality and value are concerned."

"This business was founded and operated on local capital. It is fair to assume that the capital to invest and the interest to do so still exist here."

The Union's assumption of local capability and interest must be shared generally, but any premise that because the business was operated profitably for so long that it still is attractive to investors may be wishful.

Bell & Gossett acquired Marble Arms because it was part of a package whose chief attraction was Marble Electric. B&G invested in Marble Arms to put it in the profit column, but its 1962 annual report stated: "Marble at Gladstone was still off a bit in the Sporting Goods Division, but in 1963 this division should turn the corner. The Motor Division improved its profit in the face of continually reduced prices and, with plans for better machine tools and increased working space, should show up nicely in 1963."

Where Union approaches industry from the viewpoint of job creation, Management necessarily approaches it from the viewpoint of profit. (If there's no profit the operation dies.) A big industry may carry an unprofitable unit for a time in order to build it up and make it profitable but this process gets new scrutiny when the ownership changes, as it did with sale of B&G to IT&T. Marble Arms got the axe.

That doesn't mean at all that there isn't a good prospect of continuing Marble Arms as a profitable business, but it means that IT&T isn't going to do it; it's going to let some buyer do it. (Compatibility may have been a strong factor in the decision.)

The Union should bring economic realism to its commendable effort to save this industry for Gladstone. It can do things to make the enterprise more attractive to a buyer. Its skills are a great asset, but practically, they must be teamed with efficient sales organization to be meaningful. This is the function of management.

The situation in Gladstone reveals the relative helplessness of the modern community to control its economic base. Gladstone saw new owners liquidate big Atlas Plywood Corp. and destroy its large employment. It has seen economic change reduce Soo Line employment drastically. Now Marble Arms is on the block and its job potential is up for grabs.

Marble Arms thrived as a pioneer in the business of equipping outdoorsmen. It built up a tradition of fine handcrafting in supply of tools and arms for a market which now stresses price. It's great to have Abercrombie & Fitch sell your prestige wares, but the way to riches is through Montgomery Ward. The Japanese make waterproof matchboxes like those pioneered by Marble for a fraction of the Marble price.

The problem of meeting these new conditions is large and difficult. It is manifest that Marble Arms has not grown proportionately with the outdoor equipment industry, although it was an early starter and front runner in this business. Investors and industrial enterprisers in such a situation often switch to another line of manufacture with more profit prospect, and this frequently entails a change of site.

The United Auto Workers at Marble have a task (shared by our communities) of bringing a prospective buyer some advantages, some plus factors, some reasons to believe that he can make money there. The friendly labor climate and technical skills, the existent plant and going business are plus factors. A tie with a firm whose line of products the Marble Arms line would supplement is a prime target.

The owners, the community and the UAW Committee have many natural allies in their mission, including the Gladstone and Escanaba Chambers of Commerce, the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems, Operation action-U.P. and the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion.

The change need not be a loss, it could be an opportunity and the final decision may rest on what plant locaters call "community factors", as differentiated from economic factors. The UAW Local has contributed a plus community factor with its activity.

Russian View

In a manuscript smuggled out of the Soviet Union and published in the magazine, "New Leader," a young Russian writer vents a bitter condemnation of his country.

Using the pseudonym Nikolai Gavrilov, he complains that "Russia will always be an unhappy country. Even when it ceases to be impoverished it will still be unhappy."

"In Russia, unhappiness is almost a national characteristic."

He goes on to castigate artistic censorship, Communist officials and the general management of the place.

Just what this might mean to the West is anybody's guess, but it would be dangerous to attach too much importance to such an article, if only because most Russians aren't writers.

Most Russians are workers, and they are working hard.

"Mind If I Look Over Your Shoulder?"

Washington Comment

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Dangling over the Republican party at this moment is the threat of severe internal bitterness if Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater does not get the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

speak candidly of the danger southerners, insist they will labor valiantly—to perhaps good result—for almost any candidate. Only New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, they say, leaves them utterly cold. Yet a careful reading of the comment buzzing among Republican leaders in all camps and all areas makes the peril evident.

In a midwestern state, populous but not one of the country's top seven, a leader says: "If the East foists someone else upon us, it will be a bitter blow. I'm afraid most of our people would just go home and sit down. We won't take an easterner this time."

The spokesman for a spacious mountain state says every organization Republican down to the last county chairman has openly endorsed Goldwater. They will stand with him in convention to the end—and be crushed if he loses out.

Again and Again, this sort of thing is heard from the ardent Goldwaterites. The threat in it is plain enough. They argue, with a good deal of provable substance, that in countless places the senator is the overwhelming choice of the GOP rank and file workers.

These pro-Goldwater men say that with any other nominee they will have a very hard time recruiting workers, raising money and stirring any real campaign effort. In other words, sit-down is the prospect.

The Doctor Says:

Prostatic Troubles Difficult

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Q — Our doctor says my husband has a severe prostate condition. Can this be cured? He is only 42. Isn't this young for a man to have prostate trouble? Could it be cancer?
A — There are several kinds of prostate trouble. Prostatic cancer is rare before the age of 40, but may occur after that age. Benign enlargement of the prostate usually occurs in the 60s. If your husband has cancer of the prostate I'm sure your doctor would have told you so and would have advised operation.

Various types of prostatic infection may occur in adults of any age. In some cases, the treatment is long and tedious and a complete cure is difficult.
Q — What is spondylolisthesis? What could cause it? Will an operation help?
A — In spondylolisthesis, one of the vertebrae of the lower back is defective and is displaced forward. This condition is congenital, but usually does not become noticeable until puberty. It is more common in girls than in boys. The victim usually tires easily and may complain of low back pain. She may also develop a cautious gait to minimize the discomfort. The only treatment is surgical correction, and the best results are obtained when the condition is recognized early and the operation is not delayed.

Q — My doctor has been giving me Sandril for more than a year. Is it habit-forming? What is it for? Are there any side effects?
A — Sandril is a trade name for reserpine, which is one of the tranquilizers derived from the plant Rauwolfia serpentina. It is widely used to reduce blood pressure. It is not habit-forming. It may cause a flare-up of a healed peptic ulcer in large doses. Other side effects include nasal stuffiness, nose bleeding, easy fatigability and a skin rash. Your doctor will observe you for these or other possible side effects and adjust your dose to meet your individual needs.

Q — Can stones in the salivary gland cause cancer? Is there any medicine that will prevent such stones from forming?
A — Salivary stones do not turn to cancer. I know of no drug that will dissolve or prevent them.

Use Of Mill Waste For Pulping Gains In Area

The use of sawmill waste for pulping, a practice which has already attained large volume in the Pacific Northwest and elsewhere in the nation and which has been predicted as inevitable in the Lake States, is increasing here.

Sawmill wastes like scraps of lumber, edgings and slabs which once went to fuel usage or discard is now being turned into pulping stock to increase Wisconsin's wood potential for its big paper industry. The practice has significance for the Upper Peninsula, which does some shipping of wood for pulping but which sends more than 60 per cent of its pulpwood production to Wisconsin mills as bolts.

Marathon Division of American Can Co., estimates that chips supply about 30 per cent of the wood needs of its mills. They make up 15 to 20 per cent of the wood fiber needs of Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., plants.

Chips offer a four way advantage: For conservation they mean better utilization of the basic log, increasing it as much as 30 per cent—a sizable gain considering that 500 million board feet of lumber are produced in the state each year.

For papermills they provide at a very reasonable price high quality pine and hardwood, eliminate the need for debarking and chipping logs at the mill and take up less space in mill yards than huge stacks of pulpwood logs.

Must Be Debarked
For the sawmills they often make the difference between profit and loss.

For the general economy they mean more jobs in operating new equipment, and in the woods.

According to Truman Pascoe, a Nekoosa-Edwards researcher, purchases of chips became possible when practical log debarkers were developed for sawmills. Bark has to come off for paper use. In high grade paper the maximum allowable is one-half of 1 per cent.

Nekoosa-Edwards began buying chips in 1960, getting its supply from Wisconsin, Michigan, Montana and South Dakota. Bottom dump freight cars spill them into an underground hopper, or hydraulic scoops scrape them out of boxcars.

At Rothschild, Marathon chips are weighed and tested for quality, then blown by compressed air through a network of pipes to a mountain range of chips in the storage yard. They are conveyed to the digester building for cooking as needed.

Sees More Growth
Chip production in the Wisconsin-Michigan-Minnesota area is something like three million cords a year, and still is in its primary stage in the lake states, according to Floyd Hovatter Jr., wood utilization expert for the Wisconsin Conservation Department. It is more widespread in the south.

"It looks like wood chips may reach 10 to 20 per cent of the total annual wood demand in the lake states in the next five years," Hovatter said. "If prices go up a little, I think we can look for more sawmills producing them. Right now you must produce three to four million board feet of lumber a year to afford a chipper."

Western shipments at large car freight rates appear to be holding prices down at present. Because chips are lighter than pulpwood logs, some railroads are building high sided, 90,000 pound chip cars.

One of the earliest Wisconsin sawmills to go into chipping was Tigerton Lumber Co., in Shawano County.

"We've been at it for two years," said A. E. Swanke, Tigerton president, "we have two debarkers and one large chipper in the mill, just for chipping mill waste."

Lost Its Markets
Tigerton's waste originally went into slab wood for fuel. When that market dried up, it began shipping its bits and pieces to the charcoal plant at Kingsford, Mich., which went out of business, leaving Tigerton without a market for 18 months. Through trial and error it worked out an arrangement with Marathon.

The Tigerton installation, including conveyors, cost $80,000 to $100,000. It handles about 11,000 tons of chips a year, mostly hardwood, shipping them green in gondola cars to Rothschild.

Not far away, the Menominee (Indian) Enterprises, Inc., mill at Neopit, another chipping pioneer, had $490,000 in chip sales last year out of $3,518,000 in total sales. It has one debarker and two chippers, shipping by train and its own fleet of 73,000 pound vans.

Very few whole logs are chipped for sale yet. Menominee Mills chips those too uneconomical to cut into lumber. Hart Tie & Lumber Co., Inc., in February or March will open a new log chipping installation to replace a sawmill that burned.

Harold Steiner at Y. & T. Tree Farms, Lyndon Station, has been chipping pulpwood for a year or so, getting into it "to see if we couldn't work out utilization of low grade hardwoods in this sand country."

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — George T. Krupp, 28, announced Monday that he will resign Feb. 1 as assistant Kent County prosecutor to return to private practice but has indicated a desire to seek Republican nomination in the August primary elections for a State House of Representatives seat. Active in Republican affairs, he was appointed to the prosecutor's staff last Feb. 2.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Lois Loper, 28, Monday was sentenced to 3 to 4 years in Detroit House of Correction by Superior Court Judge Claude Vanderploeg on her Jan. 10 conviction of cruelty to a child. searcher, purchases of chips became possible when practical log debarkers were developed for sawmills. Bark has to come off for paper use. In high grade paper the maximum allowable is one-half of 1 per cent.

Nekoosa-Edwards began buying chips in 1960, getting its supply from Wisconsin, Michigan, Montana and South Dakota. Bottom dump freight cars spill them into an underground hopper, or hydraulic scoops scrape them out of boxcars.

At Rothschild, Marathon chips are weighed and tested for quality, then blown by compressed air through a network of pipes to a mountain range of chips in the storage yard. They are conveyed to the digester building for cooking as needed.

Sees More Growth
Chip production in the Wisconsin-Michigan-Minnesota area is something like three million cords a year, and still is in its primary stage in the lake states, according to Floyd Hovatter Jr., wood utilization expert for the Wisconsin Conservation Department. It is more widespread in the south.

"It looks like wood chips may reach 10 to 20 per cent of the total annual wood demand in the lake states in the next five years," Hovatter said. "If prices go up a little, I think we can look for more sawmills producing them. Right now you must produce three to four million board feet of lumber a year to afford a chipper."

Western shipments at large car freight rates appear to be holding prices down at present. Because chips are lighter than pulpwood logs, some railroads are building high sided, 90,000 pound chip cars.

One of the earliest Wisconsin sawmills to go into chipping was Tigerton Lumber Co., in Shawano County.

"We've been at it for two years," said A. E. Swanke, Tigerton president, "we have two debarkers and one large chipper in the mill, just for chipping mill waste."

Lost Its Markets
Tigerton's waste originally went into slab wood for fuel. When that market dried up, it began shipping its bits and pieces to the charcoal plant at Kingsford, Mich., which went out of business, leaving Tigerton without a market for 18 months. Through trial and error it worked out an arrangement with Marathon.

without the rot and worm damage to which pulp logs are subject when stacked for months in yards. It costs from $250,000 to $1,000,000 to outfit a yard for handling chips.

In recent years, papermakers have developed ways of using hardwoods, of which there is a great deal in the state, especially on small woodlots or cluttering land that could produce better timber.

Chips are purchased by units of 2,400 pounds of bone dry fiber at prices ranging from about $14 to more than $25 a unit, depending on the kind of wood. It takes about two tons of green chips to make a unit.

Boyd Renamed CAB Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington: Federal Property: The federal government is worth more money than it owes, a congressional committee says.

In its annual report, the House Committee on Government Operations reported Sunday that the government owned $315 billion worth of land and property around the world as of June 30.

This is $9 billion more than the federal debt was then. And the committee thinks the $315 billion figure is a conservative one.

For example, the 18 acres of White House grounds was listed on the federal books as worth $1,000.

Although the committee did not explain why the White House grounds were valued so low, it noted that most government property is valued at its original cost.

Boyd: President Johnson has given Alan S. Boyd a new one-year term as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Boyd has been under fire from some New England congressmen for his vote against allowing Northeast Airlines to continue on the New York-Miami run. Boyd cast the decisive vote in the case.

Reports that House Speaker John W. McCormack had protested to the President against renaming Boyd were described as untrue Saturday by Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary.

Robert T. Murphy was named by Johnson to a new one-year term as vice chairman of the CAB.

Boyd and Murphy have been chairman and vice chairman since 1961.

Lynda Bird: Lynda Bird Johnson, 19-year-old daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, has enrolled for the spring term at the capital's George Washington University.

Lynda's roommate at the University of Texas, Warrie Lynn Smith, is transferring to George Washington and at the Johnsons' invitation will live at the White House.

The girls, who are second term sophomores, will begin classes at George Washington Feb. 3. Lynda is a history major.

Johnson-TV: President Johnson says the television industry acted swiftly, surely and in good taste in its coverage of the news surrounding President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

In a statement published in the current issue of TV Guide magazine, the President said: "I take this opportunity to add my voice to those who already have recognized television's historic contribution."

Child Guidance Lemmer PTA Program Topic

Staff members of the Child Guidance Clinic, Frank Waitrovitch and Melvin Reynolds, presented a thought-provoking program last evening at the regular meeting of John Lemmer PTA.

Parents and teachers viewed a film, "The Angry Boy," which portrayed a child's problems brought on by pressures within the home. In a discussion following the film, the speakers answered questions from the audience.

At present, they said, the Guidance Clinic has a "waiting list" of approximately 40 cases — an indication of the great need for the Clinic's services in this area. Since problems at home usually show up in a child's school work, the speakers told parents of the close cooperation between the schools and the Guidance Clinic. Many disturbed children obtain help through referrals made by their school.

At the meeting preceding the program recognition was given a group of members for the work in the Girl Scout program. They are Mesdames Robert Stumm, John Anthony, Robert Mosenfelder, Cliff Anderson, Robert McDonnell, Clarence Londo, Harry Strem, Hartley Larsen, Bertel Stadel and John Valach.

A nominating committee, Mrs. Thomas Newport, Mrs. Evans Lindley, Mrs. E. A. D'Amour and Mrs. Donald Wertz, was appointed. Room count was won by Mrs. Herbert's first grade.

A social was enjoyed by the large number of parents present and refreshments were served by mothers of the second grade.

Carthage Choir Will Give Concert Here

The Carthage College a cappella choir of Kenosha, directed by William P. Roth, will present a concert of past and contemporary sacred music Feb. 9 at Bethany Lutheran Church, 202 S. 11th St. Escanaba. The concert will start at 8 p. m.

This year's tour is both the 38th in the history of the Lutheran Church-supported liberal arts college and the first to originate from its new multi-million-dollar second campus in Kenosha which was opened for the first time in the fall of 1962. The school has maintained its other campus in Carthage, Ill., since 1870.

The Kenosha campus opened with a 265-member freshman class and added a sophomore class this year enroute to a four-year program. The 41-voice touring a cappella choir was chosen from more than 80 singers in the chapel choir that was organized a year ago.

Carthage College choirs have sung in Chicago's Orchestra Hall and Civic Opera House, New York Radio City Music Hall, the natural amphitheater at the Park of the Red Rocks near Denver and at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. The choir of 1951 was the first college group invited to sing for the Easter sunrise service at Rockefeller Center in New York City.

Director Roth, who holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees in music from Northwestern University, has been a member of the Carthage music department since 1957. After serving as tour manager and assistant director under the late Elmer C. Hanke, founder of the choir, he was appointed director in 1961.

Different Dish from Finland

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Some American families of Finnish background prepare a fascinating main dish. Grandmothers have passed along the recipe through the years.

This dish holds a combination of foods not ordinarily thought of as "going together" — liver, rice, corn syrup and raisins are baked in a casserole with cooked onion, milk and egg. When we tried this recipe in our kitchen, tasters voted it "different and interesting."

One caution in preparing the recipe. In our opinion the dish tastes best when the liver used is so exceptionally fresh that it has a bland, mild flavor.

We've found this liver pudding served on smorgasbords in Scandinavian restaurants where traditionally, a few hot dishes are offered along with the cold. A pleasant idea any party-giver can adopt. The smorgasbord can be as simple or as elaborate as you please, depending on the number of dishes you choose to have appear on it. Here are some suggestions for cold dishes, and the liver pudding recipe follows.

Stuffed eggs—they may have their yolks mashed with butter or mayonnaise and seasonings, or this yolk mixture may be combined with liver paste or deviled ham.

Stuffed celery — any mild cheese mixture may be used for the stuffing. Cream cheese blended until smooth with Blue Cheese or Roquefort is a fine combination; cheddar cheese with port is another.

Cheese by itself — the more varieties the merrier, but if you choose only two or three, have at least one that is mild.

Cold ham — this may be the boiled or baked variety, sliced or ready to slice.

Fish — herring, sardines and anchovies.

Salads — tossed green, cole slaw, cooked vegetables mixed with mayonnaise, potato with herring and beets. And most smorgasbords include a sweet jellied mold classed as a salad. Bread should be assorted. The orange-flavored Scandinavian rye bread called Linpa may be made at home. Crisp rye crackers and Melba toast are "musts."

Dessert might be an apple pudding, favored in all Scandinavian countries — or cake or cookies.

And be sure to serve strong hot coffee.

Finnish Liver Pudding

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 egg
1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 pound beef liver, ground
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1/4 cup dark corn syrup
1/4 cup raisins
1 1/2-teaspoons salt
Cook chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter over low heat until tender and transparent. Beat egg in large bowl until foamy. Blend in milk. Mix in cooked onions, liver, rice, remaining 2 tablespoons butter, corn syrup, raisins and salt. Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Bake in hot (400°) oven about 1 1/4 hours. Pudding will be dark brown around the edges. Allow to stand about 10 minutes before serving. Serve with lingonberry or cranberry sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Recipe may be doubled and cooked in a 3-quart casserole 1 1/2 hours. Note: If pudding gets too brown toward end of baking cover with foil.

READY FOR the Finnish cuisine? Here's an interesting main dish that features liver, rice and raisins.

Ann Landers

Keep The Scars

Dear Ann Landers: The grand old man of our family passed away several months ago at the age of 82. Uncle Cy left 64 descendants and he was loved by each and every one of us.

The family wants to have an oil portrait of Uncle Cy painted by a fine artist who works from photographs. We plan to present this portrait to Uncle Cy's widow on her 80th birthday. Please help us settle a question which has produced some strong differences of opinion.

Uncle Cy had a prominent scar on the side of his face—the result of a wound he received in World War I. He also had a blood blister on his lip. Some of the relatives want the artist to leave off the scar and the blood blister. They feel it would be indecorous to have these abnormalities reproduced.

The artist does not agree. May we have your opinion? It will be the deciding one.—GO BETWEEN

Dear Go: A portrait should be a faithful interpretation of what the artist sees. This means scar, blood blister—the whole bit.

Abraham Lincoln was once faced with a similar decision. When Lincoln sat for his official portrait his wife did not want the artist to show the wart on Lincoln's face. Lincoln insisted that the artist paint him as he saw him—and he did—wart and all.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 14 who has ten problems—my fingernails. I have bitten them ever since I can remember. No amount of shaming can get me to stop. Yet I'm so self-conscious about my nails that I keep my fingers turned in so nobody can see them. I wear gloves whenever I can.

Before an exam my fingers are actually sore because I bite my nails down so close. I envy my girl friends who have lovely nails and I'd give anything if I could let mine grow.

I've heard of some bitter-tasting stuff that can be bought in a drug store. It is applied like polish and is supposed to stop nail-biting. Does it work? What about artificial nails? They are expensive but it would be worth a month's allowance if I could break the habit. Please give me some advice.—TEN TROUBLES

Dear Troubles: Nail-biting is a symptom of nervousness. You have cited the evidence by describing what happens to your nails before an exam. The bitter-tasting stuff you buy at the drug-store, or the artificial nails may be helpful temporarily but if you want to kick the habit you'll have to go to work on whatever it is that makes you nervous.

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe you can help. Our 21-year-old daughter is planning to be married next summer. Loretta is our only child and we want so much for her to be happy.

The problem is this: Loretta's fiancé is of a different faith. Her father and I are upset about this, but we have accepted it. We are not insisting that he change for her, but I can't say the same about HIS parents. They are forever hammering at Loretta—trying to get her to change for him.

Loretta has started to go to church with them but he refuses to come to church with us. She loves him so much we think she will finally accept his faith to please him. This breaks our hearts. What advice do you have for her, Ann?—UPSET PARENTS

Dear Upset Parents: I have no advice for her since she did not ask. But I do have some advice for YOU, since you wrote. Stay out of it. When I am asked for an opinion on this subject I always advise people to marry within their own faith. Marriage has enough problems without complicating it with this one.

Some mixed marriages have been known to work out well—but they are the exceptions. Of course those who try it think they are going to beat the odds—but they rarely do.

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is now available at your book store. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, and self-addressed envelope.

AUDITORIUM SHARED
NEW YORK (AP)—A church and an experimental dramatic workshop are sharing facilities in a building around the corner from the Broadway theatrical zone.

The thespic venture, called the American Place Theater, was established a year ago to help established writers in other fields test their talent at stagecraft.

Although there is no formal connection between the theater and St. Clement's Protestant Episcopal Church which uses the same auditorium, there is a link. The Rev. Sidney Lanier, the vicar, is co-director of the American Place group.

MANISTIQUE Banker Predicts Common Market Will Spur U.S.

The European Common Market will keep American businessmen "on their toes" and is well enough advanced that attempts to upset it such as De Gaulle's, will probably not be successful, Herbert W. Corey of Stephenson, a past president of the Michigan Bankers' Assn., said Monday in a Rotary program arranged by Fred H. Hahne.

Corey, president of the Bank of Stephenson, was one of 22 Midwest bankers who in September toured Europe, including Russia. He was the only one from Upper Michigan and one of three from Michigan in the People to People exchange.

Only 45 of the 150 larger cities in Russia are "open cities," Corey explained. His visit began in London, where he was impressed with restoration progress made, after 65 percent of the city was destroyed in World War II. The visit included meeting central banking officials, who showed their training system.

European banking doesn't take care of the "man in the street" as American banks do, Corey cited. He said in England finance companies are owned by banks and handle much of the man-in-the-street business.

Cuba?
In going to Russia, the group was cautioned to use cameras with discretion, not photographing airports, bridges and other strategic units. The group was kept aboard 35 minutes in Moscow before the official arrived to check them out.

The Moscow-Leningrad hotel was beautiful from the outside. Inside, the structure did not give the atmosphere American hotels do. Chandeliers had only a few bulbs burning in them, indicating maintenance was not what it should have been, and the food was fair. Odors coming from the kitchen were not appetite-whetting, he said.

By contrast, a visit to Georgia near Turkey and between the Black and Caspian seas, provided tasty foods, including some native dishes. Warsaw was an improvement, and Budapest had excellent hotel and food facilities.

A girl guide in Russia was intelligent and well-informed, but "a Commie through and through," Corey noted. When a member of the group, at an exposition where a map of Russian influence was displayed, was critical of Cuba, the girl lost her temper — the only time — and said: "Don't you tell me about Cuba. My brother has been there four years."

Apparently, said Corey, events which happened in Cuba had the seeds sown much earlier.

New Apartments
Attendance at a ballet in the Bolshoi theatre and a circus were included. Corey said that in travels the group noted women do heavy work and observed in one blacktopping operation two men and two women spreading the material and a woman operating a heavy roller. When a Russian later told them women are equal with men there, Corey said: "I just saw what you mean."

Many Russian doctors are women, he said, and they are quick to state that in proportion to population, Russia has twice the doctors the U. S. does.

Wages, with both the man and wife working, would be $125 to $150 a month, with each earning half of this. Nurseries are prevalent and "one gets the impression there is no one idle."

A "terrific job" has been done in taking the people out of hovels and putting them in large apartment buildings. Khrushchev had to begin building these almost as soon as he came to power as the people were restless, Corey noted. Two to three families share baths and kitchens.

They are a vast improvement over what the people had before, though the workmanship and finishing would not be acceptable according to our standards. There is no hidden plumbing. The bathroom in one in Georgia had been painted while debris was still on the floor and "there was as much paint on the tub as on the walls."

Cash For Cars
West Berlin, (which is like virgin forest compared to fire-wrecked areas of East Berlin) and Brussels both had literature to cite advantages of business locating there. West Berlin cited that 12 major companies had located there in the past two years and both General Motors and Kaiser Aluminum were locating plants. Both Brussels and West Berlin areas are bringing in outside workers as there are more jobs than workers. Spanish and Italian workers are going to Belgium.

In East Berlin there is great contrast, with few cars on the streets (most of these were cabs in Moscow) less friendliness in shops and less activity. A car costs $4,000 for one type and $6,200 for another and "you have to have the cash in your hand when you order it. The delivery date is two years later. I wonder how many cars we'd sell or could buy that way?" Corey observed.

The speaker drew laughter when he said he missed radio, television and newspapers and when he went to a Moscow newsstand the only paper in English he could find was "The Daily Worker."

"I never thought I'd see the day when Herb Corey would buy the Daily Worker," he said.

Tire Brands Found Faulty

HAMMOND Ind (AP) — An Indiana tire dealer who says he is alarmed about the quality of some tires sold to the public under private name brands telegraphed congressmen a request Sunday to tighten manufacturing safety laws.

Len Hedinger, of Hammond, said he had sent his message to Sens. Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh, and to Indiana's house members in Washington.

Hedinger said he acted after cutting tires offered to him for sale and deciding on the basis of his experience as a dealer and former tire plant worker that they were of substandard quality.

"The brand tires of the 16 manufacturers follow a scale of standards, although fourth-line tires made by some of these firms seem borderline to me," Hedinger told an interviewer.

"But about 40 per cent of the tires sold directly to the public are made to standards of private sellers, and some of these shouldn't be sold by dealers with a sense of responsibility."

NEW YORK (AP) — Stanley De Jongh Osborne has resigned as board chairman of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., the company said Sunday.

Osborne said he was leaving to become a general partner in the brokerage firm of Lazard Freres & Co. The brokerage firm said this would take place in February, subject to the approval of the New York Stock Exchange.

Osborne indicated that he wanted to pursue his long interest in international finance. "I leave Olin Mathieson under the pleasantest of circumstances," Osborne said.

NEW YORK (AP) — The two top executives of Bankers Trust Co. said Sunday an end to conflicts among bank supervisory officials is necessary for the continued health of the banking industry.

"It is quite clear that the present confusion of supervisory policies must end if we are to maintain a healthy and fully competitive banking system, responsive to the needs of business and the public," wrote William H. Moore, chairman, and Wallis B. Dunckel, president, in the annual report.

The two officials devoted practically their entire introduction to reviewing what they called growing differences in policies and practices among the various governmental agencies exercising supervisory powers over commercial banking.

They told 25,000 shareholders of the city's sixth largest bank that they didn't particularly like the proposal for a Federal Banking Commission vested with all federal bank supervisory powers.

"A more feasible and appropriate alternative would be to create in each of the 12 federal reserve districts a regional supervisory board on which both national and state supervisory agencies would be represented," they suggested.

Hiawatha PTA Meets Wednesday

Hiawatha PTA meets at 8 p. m., Wednesday at the school. Included in the program will be a talk on school drop-outs by Carl Olson, high school teacher. Men's night will be held. Hosts are Sherman Dewey, chairman, and Theron Osterhout.

Hospital

Discharged from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Audrey Swanson, Indian Lake; Hillard Stevens, Quinnesec; Minnie Sheldon, N. 3rd St.; Leoline Milnor, Rte. 1; Joey DeSautel, 530 Arbutus Ave.; Robert Fraser, Newberry; Charles Tracy, Rte. 1; Phillip and Lucille Herrmann, Steuben; and Thomas Broullire, 721 Oak St.

Shorter Week To Be Asked By UAW Presidents

CLEVELAND (AP)—A resolution calling for early retirement and a shorter work week has been adopted by the presidents of 50 United Auto Workers local unions. It will be presented at the UAW's national convention in Atlantic City in March.

The union officials voted against seeking a profit-sharing program from the automobile manufacturers in negotiations later this year.

The officials from Ohio, Michigan and Canada locals meeting Saturday represented about 150,000 UAW members.

Nehru Guided By Daughter

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's illness increases the importance of the woman at his side, Indira Gandhi.

As Nehru's only child and closest companion, the 46-year-old widow has long supervised the living habits of the 74-year-old widower in an effort to protect his health.

Since a new sickness struck Nehru 10 days ago she has sought to increase her effectiveness as his buffer against the world. Nehru must be spared the kind of excitement that the pressing problems of India often create for him.

Long Rest Ordered
Mrs. Gandhi warns the few top officials who see Nehru not to tell him of some things. When the Calcutta religious violence began last week she kept it from him at first and later tried to get Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda to keep discussion of the subject brief.

Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari have taken over Nehru's routine duties as a temporary arrangement.

Doctors have ordered Nehru to rest for a month or more and they reportedly do not expect to be able to allow him to resume his hard-driving schedule of the past.

This situation has created the possibility of a deputy prime minister as well as renewed talk of who will be the next prime minister. Here, too, Mrs. Gandhi is important.

She has always said she has no political ambitions. Retirement to social work in some small town would be more to her liking, Mrs. Gandhi insists.

Prominent Since 1955
Nonetheless she is much discussed as a possible successor to her father. Some Indian political observers dismiss the idea as impossible. Others are not so sure.

Solely because she is her father's daughter, Mrs. Gandhi has been prominent in Indian politics since 1955. She then became a member of the working committee that runs the mammoth Congress party, Nehru's political machine that dominates the Indian scene.

Indira, as most Indians refer to her, lacks personality for a national leader in her own right. Forceful in private, she seems flat and dull in public appearances.

Mrs. Gandhi's husband was Firoze Gandhi. An independent-minded politician, he was no kin to Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of the Indian freedom movement and the moving spirit behind Nehru's idealism.

Women To Have Volleyball Class

The women's volleyball and exercise class, sponsored by the Adult Education program, will be held at the high school gym each Monday from 8:30 to 10 p. m., beginning Jan. 27. Mrs. Richard Wagner, High School physical education instructor, will direct the classes which will include 15 sessions.

Formerly known as the women's physical fitness class, the group plans to play volleyball and exercise to correct posture defects, spot reduction and general conditioning.

Mrs. Wagner stated that volleyball can be played and enjoyed by people of all ages and may be played indoors or outdoors.

Emphasis will be placed on the individual's own ability and progress made at the individual's own rate of speed. The program will offer mild physical activity for those participating and a physical examination within the past year is recommended.

A nominal fee will be charged to defray the cost of the program.

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — All women in Decatur at least 21 years of age now may tend bar.

The City Council repealed a restriction on bartending by women.

The ordinance, adopted in January 1959, permitted only those women who are tavern licensees or wives of licensees to be bartenders.

The original ordinance was passed because male bartenders thought the lower paid waitresses would be taking their jobs.

Favor Russians In Puck Sport

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—With eight days to go before the Jan. 29 opening of the Winter Olympics one thing seems certain—Russia should have no trouble collecting the gold medal in hockey.

The names of Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and Canada are being bandied around by local hockey experts but all agree Russia is the team to beat.

The USSR squad is the reigning Olympic and world champions. This winter the Russians completed a highly successful tour of the U.S. and Canada, and swept all before them in Europe.

The top hockey teams have yet to arrive in Innsbruck but the Olympic Village is rapidly filling with other competitors.

All the bobsled squads have arrived and today will have their second training runs on the Olympic course at Igls. Monday's two-man times were fast and only the United States had a mishap.

Pistons Notch Rare Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One recent rumor was that the Detroit Pistons would trade Bailey Howell and Don Ohl to the San Francisco Warriors for Nate Thurmond and Gary Phillips. Inspecting their latest performance, you get the idea that Detroit needs to unload Howell and Ohl like it needs to get rid of General Motors.

The two veterans scored 62 points between them Monday night as the Pistons won a regular-season game in Los Angeles for the first time, defeating the Lakers 118-107.

It was the only game on the National Basketball Association schedule.

McDonald, 31, also from Malone. He was not hurt and will take part in the four-man run today.

At Seefeld the Nordic cross country and ski jump teams from Switzerland, West Germany and Russia are expected to have their first test of the course. East Germany, Finland and some of the Russian women already have tried out the course.

Last to arrive will be the skiers who have decided to stay with the snow in Italy and other European ski resorts, rather than risk restricted training in Innsbruck.

Fighters Facing Legal Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and No. 1 contender Kenny Lane likely will have to punch their way out of some legal skirmishes before they ever get to climb in a ring and throw punches at each other.

The World Boxing Association has been trying to arrange a championship fight between Ortiz, of New York, and Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., for some time. The entire matter seemed settled Saturday but began to get a bit complicated Monday.

Ortiz, boarding a plane in San Juan for a trip to New York, said he would sue the WBA if the organization tries to strip him of his crown for meeting junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde in a title fight.

Negaunee St. Paul Rated Top State Class D Team

By The Associated Press
Tiny Negaunee St. Paul, a finalist in the state high school basketball tournament last March, took over the top spot in Class D in The Associated Press' weekly poll announced today.

Port Huron St. Stephen and Bloomington, which shared the No. 1 spot among the state's smallest schools last week, are second and third.

The AP's panel of sports writers and sportscasters retained Lansing Sexton as the Class A leader, while River Rouge remained No. 1 in Class B and

Bowling Field Is Cut To 96

DALLAS (AP)—Jean Bopp of Milwaukee and Bill Lillard of Dallas will pace a sharply reduced field of survivors into the final day of qualifying at the All Star Bowling Tournament today.

Mrs. Bopp, a housewife, has piled up a record 20-game total of 4195, shattering the previous mark set by Marion Ladewig last year by 10 pins. Mrs. Bopp rolled a record 760 three game series Sunday and came back Monday with four game series of 907 and 807 in the semifinals.

Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif., was in far away second place with a 4009 aggregate. The pretty red-head shot 788 and 795 four game blocks Monday.

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was eliminated Sunday night when she failed to survive the semifinal cut which reduced the women's field from 144 to 48.

Lillard, who won this title in 1956, has amassed a 20-game total of 4363. Lillard rolled a solid 844 four game series Monday in the final block of men's preliminaries.

Mike Chuchiolo, Patchogue, N.Y., stayed close on the leader's heels with 4346. He shot 839 Monday.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., came up with a 905 series in the final block of qualifying, which boosted him to third place with 4334.

The original field of 288 men was chopped to 96 Monday night to determine the men semifinals.

Hall Takes Lead In Trophy Race

MONTREAL (AP)—The 11-goal barrage the Boston Bruins unloaded on Toronto goalie Don Simmons Saturday left the Leafs' Johnny Bower in a state of shock and Chicago's Glenn Hall in control of the Vezina Trophy race.

National Hockey League statistics released today show Hall with a seven-goal margin in the race for the Vezina Trophy over Bower and Montreal's Charley Hodge. The Chicago goalie can thank the Bruins for his wide margin even though the outburst came against Simmons.

Under NHL regulations, the Vezina Trophy is a team award going to the regular goalie of the club allowing the fewest goals. Thus Bower, although watching from the sidelines, must bear the burden for the 11 goals.

Grosse Pointe St. Paul headed Class C.

Benton Harbor and Pontiac Central were next in Class A. Grand Rapids Christian moved up to sixth, changing places with Muskegon, while Muskegon Heights and Holland Christian grabbed the last two spots.

Comstock continued to trail defending state champion River Rouge by a wide margin in Class B, with Flint St. Michael holding down third place.

While five teams were shuffled around in this class, there was only one newcomer—Bronson, which placed 10th.

There was also quite a shake-up in Class C, where New Haven made the biggest jump of any team rated this week by moving seventh last week.

Muskegon Christian finished ninth and Akron-Fairgrove edged into the elite group by taking the last spot, in other changes.

Baraga was the only new team to make it in Class D, where only one team—fourth-place Britton-Macon—finished in the same position as a week ago.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Only two are scheduled to-night. Those include Minnesota's visit to second-ranked Michigan in a vital Big Ten game and Purdue vs. Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Shotput Record To Be Challenged

NEW YORK (AP)—The world record for the shot put is 65 feet 10½ inches. Gary Gubner plans on throwing from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Not that he really plans on throwing a shot that far. Not really. But his doubleheader plan is a little on the unique side. It works like this:

Gubner, who owns the indoor record at 64-11¾, plans on competing in two meets—one in New York and one on Los Angeles—on Feb. 8. Jet plane travel is the answer.

In the latter one he'll challenge Dallas Long, the outdoor record holder at 65-10½ and the Olympic favorite and ender his streak of 21 consecutive indoor victories.

Tom's Cagers Beat Powers

POWERS — Tom's Signs of Escanaba edged Powers 66-59 in overtime here Sunday in independent basketball action.

Joe Murray of Powers took scoring honors with 26 points while Dennis Vanlerberghe had 23 and Bill LeClair 21 for Tom's. The Escanaba team will carry an 11-2 record into a game at Sawyer Air Bas Sunday.

Boxers Drilling Under Leo Wood At Manistique

MANISTIQUE — Leo Wood, former outstanding boxer, has taken over the duties of boxing coach and trainer here.

Wood will train the Manistique fighters who will enter the 22nd annual Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship tournament at Escanaba Feb. 1 and 8.

Three fighters planning to compete are Dewaine Dixon, Dick Benish and Gilbert Baker. Dixon is defending Upper Peninsula champion at 126 pounds in the open division and will move up a weight to 135 this year. Benish and Baker are novices.

The new Manistique boxing coach was Manistique's top fighter in 1961 when he won the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin 126 pound open division championship and advanced to the Tournament of Champions in Chicago where he lost on a decision in his first start.

Wood is the third of three fighting brothers who became well known for their boxing feats in Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves competition.

Koufax Seeks $60,000 Pay

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Sandy Koufax, who won virtually every pitching honor in 1963, will shortly be getting his biggest reward of all when he signs a Los Angeles Dodger contract for an estimated $60,000.

The 28-year-old southpaw said Monday night he expected no difficulty coming to terms for 1964 when he meets with Dodger General Manager Buzzy Bavasi within the next week or two.

"I have a fairly good idea as to my worth and I don't anticipate any disagreement," said Koufax, who last year was paid $35,000 for winning 25 games, 11 of them shutouts, and striking out 306 batters to top his own National League record.

The handsome, dark-haired hurler climaxed his brilliant season with two victories in the Dodgers' four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees, fanning a record 15 batters in the opener.

A $60,000 contract would represent slightly more than a 70 per cent increase and make Koufax second highest salaried pitcher in the major leagues.

Koufax, the National League's Most Valuable Player and The Associated Press' Male Athlete of the Year, arrived here to accept the $10,000 diamond-studded gold-buckled Hickok Trophy as the P. Athlete of the Year.

A panel of 125 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave Koufax a record 106 first place votes and 344 points. Y.A. Tittle, New York Giants' veteran quarterback, was second with nine votes and 158 points.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

Heard about Dart's new V8? It's getting around fast!

Hot is the term that describes engines with more than adequate performance. It describes Dart's 225 cu. in. Six exactly. This Six has been more than a match of other compacts' extra cost engines. So why a new V8? We wanted to do something special for the guy who never quite got sports cars out of his system. And here it is! 273 cubic inches of bold V8 vigor.

Car-quick from a stop. Plenty of reserve for highway passing. This responsive power plant turns regular gas into premium gusto. Prove it? Just nudge the pedal toward the carpet, and you've got the answer—real quick! And isn't it just like Dart to give you more action. Dart already gives you more room, comfort, luxury and luggage space than more-than-a-few other compacts. And with Dart you also get a long, strong 5-year/50,000-mile warranty.* (There goes Dart . . . giving you more again!)

*THE DEPENDABLES GIVE YOU 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE PROTECTION—Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor/air filter cleaned every 6

Stilt Retains Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Deduct 11 points from the average of most basketball players and they'd be in trouble. Not so with Wilt Chamberlain, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer.

The San Francisco Warrior star was leading the league's point-makers with a 46.2 average a year ago. His production has slipped to 35.3 this season—a drop of nearly 11 points. So where does that leave him in the scoring parade?

Still on top, that's where. Wilt, whose .522 field goal percentage is tops in that department, too, holds better than a five point lead on Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson who has a 29.9 average. Robertson leads the league in assists with 10.4 per game.

Panama Pandemonium

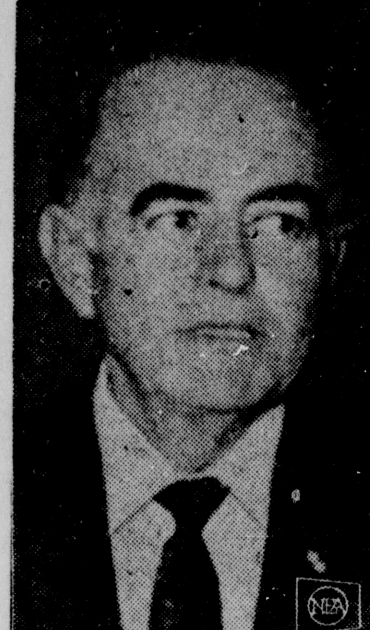

The powder keg was ready to go in Panama—long-seething with discontent over problems connected with the U.S.-administered Canal Zone. The spark—raising of the U.S. flag at a Balboa (Canal Zone) high school without simultaneous display of the Panamanian flag, as provided in a United States-Panama agreement initiated in 1960. ● Efforts of Panamanian students to raise their flag at the school touched off rioting. Pictured here: Panama's president, Roberto Chiari and Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commander, U.S. Army Southern Command, in charge of the troops in the Canal Zone. Initial 1960 flag-raising under the bilateral agreement is pictured, as is an over-all view of Panama City.

Brothers Defy School Rules

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (AP)—Two brothers have been suspended from the Elliot Lake High School for refusing to serve an hour's detention for staying away from school to watch President Kennedy's funeral on television.

The boys are Rainer and Gerhard Warkholdt, 17 and 15. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Warkholdt, said they kept the boys home to watch the Nov. 25 telecast.

School Board Chairman Charles Eaket said the youths would not be allowed to return to school until "they agree to pay their debt to society."

Mr. and Mrs. Warkholdt, who emigrated from Germany in the early 1950s, said they had retained a lawyer to investigate the case.

"I was raised under a dictatorship, with no freedom of speech, thinking or actions," Mrs. Warkholdt told a newsman. "I feel offended by this decision."

TOKYO (AP)—Six members of the French National Assembly arrived in Peking Sunday to study the possibilities of economic and cultural agreements between France and Communist China.

The group, which represents a cross-section of French political opinion, went with the blessing of President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle's government has notified the United States it plans to recognize the Peking regime, Francois Benard, leader of the parliamentary delegation, told newsmen he would not be surprised if the recognition was extended during their trip.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Bojan Tchinkov, an architect in Plovdiv, Bulgaria, has been sentenced to five years in prison for telling a "calumnious" joke about Bulgaria's Communist regime, according to press reports reaching Belgrade.

The reports did not retell the joke.

Political jokes are punishable in Bulgaria under a special law approved three weeks ago.

Wallendas Come Back To Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Great Wallendas, who stand in a pyramid on a circus high wire, return next Friday to the scene where the pyramid collapsed two years ago and two men died.

But it won't be their first performance at the State Fair Coliseum since their disaster of Jan. 30, 1962. Two members of the troupe were back on the wire at the next night's show.

Three men fell from the 35-foot-high wire two years ago as the Wallendas stood with four men on the wire, two on poles supported by the bottom men, and a girl in a chair balanced atop a pole supported by the middle men. Some 6,000 spectators watched in horror.

Dieter Schapp, 23, making his first public appearance in the act, cried out, "I can't hold on any longer," and the pyramid collapsed.

Schapp and Richard Faughnan, 29, were killed. Mario Wallenda, 24, now is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the fall.

The girl, Christina Schapp, then 17, sister of Dieter, was caught by the head of the troupe, Karl Wallenda, who hung by his legs from the wire.

Karl's brother, Herman, also caught the wire and Herman's son, Gunther, managed to retain his balance standing on the wire.

Herman, then 60, and Gunther, then 34, were back performing on the wire the next night. Karl, who suffered pelvic injuries, returned to the act a few days later.

"We can't lose our nerve," said the 56-year-old Karl. "We must go on...This is the first time anything like this has happened in 38 years of the act."

Christina, however, quit the circus and went into theater work in Germany.

About a year later, the Wallendas performed in Michigan again—at Lansing—but the pyramid wasn't in their act.

Then, in April of 1963, death struck the Wallendas again. Henrietta Grotfeldt, 42, a member of the troupe, fell to her death from a 50-foot-high pole on which she had been balancing.

Fellow performers believed she passed out atop the pole, since she didn't scream.

Karl, Herman and Gunther Wallenda were performing at Portland, Maine, that night.

The Wallendas didn't try their exclusive pyramid act again until last November, and immediately had a brush with death.

As the troupe members moved into position, the wire snapped. Six persons were hurt, although none was injured seriously.

The wire was only 12 feet above the ground. "If we had been high at least two would have been killed," said Karl.

The first public performance of the pyramid after that came last Nov. 20 at Fort Worth, Tex., with one major change—a safety net. There had been no net in Detroit.

There will be a net here next Friday, however. In the wake of the Wallenda tragedy here in 1962, the Michigan Legislature made the use of a net mandatory.

Fire Destroys Iron Mt. Plant

IRON MOUNTAIN — A fire, which was believed to have started from wooden cases stacked near a furnace pipe in the garage of the 7-Up Bottling Company, destroyed the plant and at least four delivery trucks early today. Damage was estimated at about $100,000.

The fire completely gutted the rear of the building and destroyed an apartment in the front of the structure. The only portion of the building not burned this morning was the lower front, but this was heavily damaged by water.

The Iron Mountain plant serves nine Upper Peninsula counties and supplies wholesale dealers in both Escanaba and Menominee. George J. Lammi, owner of the firm, said that about $50,000 in insurance Schary was given oxygen and treated for a sprain of the left arm.

He and Mrs. Schary returned home from a play shortly after midnight and had retired when Schary noted smoke coming from his wife's bedroom. He tried to put out the small fire with a pillow before calling the fire department.

Origin of the fire hasn't been determined. It was confined to the Schary apartment.

Johnson Asks Expense Cut To Attack Poverty

(Please Turn to Page 8, Col. 8)

wound up as a net cut of only 1,200 jobs, or a shaving of less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent. That would leave 2,511,200 on the civilian payroll when the fiscal year ends in mid-1965.

And the space budget is still climbing, though not at rocket velocity. Johnson firmly recommended the United States to put an American on the moon in this decade, despite rising dissent in Congress against what some legislators call a costly moonjoggle.

The budget had these further highlights:

—A request for money for 14,000 Peace Corps volunteers in 1965, compared with 10,400 this year. The stepup, Johnson said, results from the corps' highly successful operations and "the gratifying flood of requests" for its services.

Aid To Education

—Announcement that he will send Congress shortly "cotton and dairy proposals that will decrease by $230 million the estimated expenditures of the Commodity Credit Corporation," the Agriculture Department agency which administers farm price supports.

—A go-ahead for the starting of 44 new dam, harbor, power and other resources projects with an estimated total federal cost of $512 million. Over-all resource outlays in 1965 will total $2.7 billion, Johnson said.

—A strong appeal for federal aid to education at "the foundation of our educational system—the elementary and secondary schools." Johnson urged passage of pending bills to provide grants for teachers' pay and the building of classrooms, in addition to special programs wrapped into his poverty package.

Notification that he will seek another increase in the federal debt limit. Unless Congress acts, the temporary ceiling of $315 billion falls to the permanent limit of $285 billion on June 30.

Guard Not Relaxed

But the debt by then, Johnson said, will be $312 billion; and a year later, $317 billion. Failure to raise the ceiling would necessitate resorting to fiscal devices which "conflict with the economical operation of the government."

—A gradual paring-down of the Defense Department's payroll. About 10,000 civilians will have been dropped by next June 30, another 17,000 by the end of fiscal 1965, a year later.

—A repeat of President Kennedy's request for creation of a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing under a new name, the "Department of Housing and Community Development." Congress turned down Kennedy's plan for the 11th department and has shown no recent sign of warming up to the idea.

—A call for higher salaries for high-level government officials. Government economy and efficiency, Johnson said, will come chiefly from the hard work of the top managers, "who now are plainly underpaid for what is expected of them."

Johnson assured congress that the planned military and nuclear cutbacks imply no "relaxing of our guard."

Glenn Forces Win In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.

The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political hassle.

But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young of Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.

It was "mission accomplished" for backers of Glenn, the 42-year-old Marine Corps veteran who rocketed to fame 23 months ago as the first American to orbit the earth.

Whipping Stands For Burglar, 41

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A Delaware judge has refused to set aside the whipping he ordered for Talmadge R. Balser, 41, and said he has been criticized for reducing the number of lashes.

Balser was sentenced to 25 years and 20 lashes, but Superior Judge Stewart R. Lynch reduced the penalty two weeks ago to 15 years and 10 lashes.

Judge Lynch denied defense attorney Edward W. Schall's motion to set aside or reduce the sentence Monday.

Balser was convicted of robbery charges.

Schall said he would appeal and ask a stay of the lashing, scheduled for Jan. 28.

Schools Score In Debate Here

Teams from about 25 Upper Peninsula High Schools took part in the second preliminary debate tournament hosted at the Escanaba Area High School last Saturday.

Escanaba, Holy Name and the Gladstone High School debate teams entered the tournament. Topic for debate was "Resolved: That the federal government should provide essential medical care for all citizens at public expense."

The varsity debate team of Manistee walked off with top honors by winning all four of their debates. Their reserve won five and lost five.

Members of the Escanaba High School varsity team entered two and lost both. Two members of the varsity squad affirmative team, Rosalie Breault and Marietta Carlson, were also entered on the junior varsity and won both contests.

Blaine Dickson and Charles Benamer composed the school's negative team. Robert Vadnais is the debate coach.

Holy Name High School lost all four of its debates. Members of the affirmative team included Paula Gardipee and Mary Joy Williams. Those on the negative team were Rite Krusell and Ann Worth.

Richard LaFave is the debate coach for Holy Name.

Gladstone High School debaters scored three wins out of four. Their affirmative team, composed of Steve Cowen and Alden Bjorklund defeated Iron Mountain and lost to Felch.

Members of the negative team won over Escanaba and Eben High Schools. Gladstone's negative team was composed of Sue Phillips and James Wedell.

Debate Coach, James Boman, said the school's score to the present time is five wins and three losses.

The final debate tournament will be held at Northern Michigan University in Marquette on Feb. 22.

Bag With $30,000 Lost In Door Of Subway Train

NEW YORK (AP)—When Isidoro Aponce boarded a subway train in Brooklyn Monday he said he was carrying $30,000 in a shopping bag.

Aponce, 55, said he was taking the money—$25,000 won in Puerto Rico's legal lottery plus $5,000 savings—to buy a house and surprise his wife. The cash was in $5, $20, $50 and $100 bills.

As he got off the train at the Bowling Green station in Manhattan, Aponce said, the door slammed on his arm and ripped the bag from his hand. He said he had to let go to avoid being dragged by the train.

A Transit Authority spokesman promised an investigation.

Detroit Prison Needs Cleaning, Guzowski Says

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Richard Guzowski, D-Detroit, Monday told Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh that the Detroit House of Correction "needs considerable attention."

Reporting on a legislative committee's inspection of penal institutions, he described the prison as "unusually dirty and in need of paint."

"It also seems that the prisoners are reupholstering the furniture of certain employees of the prison at little cost to the employees. Probably more should be charged for this work," he said.

Guzowski said he was "surprised when inmates asked for dictionaries and other educational tools simply so they could improve their education."

Mongolia Signs China Trade Pact

TOKYO (AP)—Mongolia and Communist China signed a protocol on goods exchange for 1964 in Peking Monday, the New China News Agency reported. It said Mongolia will supply China with horses, sausage casing, pelts and hides in exchange for silks, cement, chemicals, machine accessories and sundry articles.

Few Magazines Found Risque

LANSING (AP)—A survey of state-owned concession stands around Michigan turned up only a few where "girlie" magazines of questionable nature are sold—and nothing very racy, at that.

This was the word today from state police as they prepared a report for Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who demanded an investigation last week after finding "risque" magazines on sale in the state capitol.

One detective said the results of the survey, which covered almost all of the state-owned concession stands in public buildings, were "about what we expected."

He said it turned up some magazines which could be considered "just trash" but nothing that probably would be defined legally as pornographic.

Detective Lt. Raymond McConnell, of the state police intelligence division, said magazines of a questionable nature were found in five locations—one in Jackson, one in Saginaw, and three in Lansing.

Ron Dzierbicki, administrative assistant to Lesinski, said it wasn't yet determined what would be done with the police report on the magazines.
